BOTTLING OUR HISTORY

After the deep dive into the heritage and evolution of The Warehouse Hotel, this is where the story gets poured.

Each drink on this menu enters a time in Singapore's transformation — a nod to the OG hustlers, old haunts and decisions good and bad that built this city. You'll taste local flavours twisted sideways, borrowed from back alleys, secret triads and late-night kitchens. Some drinks are smooth. Some hit back.

It's layered. It's not always simple. But the best things rarely are.
Those are the ones worth saving, savouring and remembering.

Got a question? Give us a shout.
We'll get you answers or inspirations
no fuss, just straight up the right kind of solution.
Alcoholic or not.

Distilled in a historic godown off Havelock Road, Chiu Long Gin draws its name from Chiu Long Lo — "Spirit Distillery Street." Once filled with the scents of pepper, clove, nutmeg, and star anise from the spice trade, these warehouses also hid another life: secret societies brewing toddy and running illicit stills.

Crafted with spice-forward botanicals, Chiu Long Gin celebrates both the warmth of Singapore's spice routes and the intrigue of its spirited past.

THE 36 OATHS

New initiates swore thirty-six sacred oaths of loyalty, secrecy, and brotherhood to join the secret societies before sipping a blood-tinged drink. Join the allegiance with our smoky bitter take.

SCOTCH MALT WHISKY SOCIETY

Founded in Edinburgh in 1983, the Scotch Malt Whisky Society bottles only a single cask for each release—meaning between 200 and 600 bottles only are available for each. The Warehouse Hotel is proud to be one of only five venues pouring a rotating selection of their drams.
